ABOUT

Brian's official training in art started at Miami University (Oxford OH). After graduating in 2004 with a BFA in painting he moved to Minneapolis, with his wife Jennifer, to serve a three year apprenticeship at The Atelier School of Fine Arts. Over the past eight years he moved from oil painting to pastels then back to oils again, all the while trying not to fall into the mode of being a "Figurative Painter", a "Still Life Painter", or a "Landscape Painter." For these past years he's been working towards the goal of simply being "A Painter of what I see", which sometimes is right in front of his eyes, and other times in the back of his head. Sometimes sly or humorous, and other times it's just be one of those moments that causes us to take a momentary pause in a life that is forever wanting us not too.
